

Biography

Kenneth B. Ogilvie

Ken is an independent environmental policy consultant and also serves as a senior advisor to Deloitte & Touche. He carries the honorary title of Executive Director Emeritus, Pollution Probe. He chairs the Institute for Environmental Innovation (Tulsa, Oklahoma) and is Vice-Chair of Sustainable Development Technology Canada. He is a founding member and Vice-Chair of Quality Urban Energy Systems of Tomorrow (QUEST). Ken also sits on the Board of the Pembina Institute for Appropriate Development and on advisory committees and panels for several industry associations (Canadian Electricity Association, Canadian Association of Petroleum Producers and Chemistry Industry Association of Canada).

Ken has a Bachelor of Applied Science (Civil Engineering) from the University of Waterloo, and a Masters in Business Administration from York University. He has also been awarded an honorary Doctor of Environmental Studies by the University of Waterloo and an honorary Doctor of Laws from Thompson Rivers University.